TIMELY THINGS
By Rose Bennington

Timely faith. That lonely weeping
Stilled at last, and peace is creeping
Over you.
There's no load too great for bearing
When you find there's someone caring
What you do.

Timely words. A loosened fetter.
An unexpected, friendly letter
Cheers you so!
Roads are not rough for daring
When you're sure there's some one caring
Where you go.

Timely love. The trees are swnging
To the rhythm of your singing.
Skies are blue.
Bliss of angels you are sharing
When you know there's someone caring
Just for you.

Success has basically a tender heart. She cannot commonly hide herself forever from anyone who seeks her in a spirit of undying fidelity.

Yes, it is undoubtedly true that so far as practical usage goes we can say with reasonable assurance that there's a way, provided there's a will that does not falter until it has found the way.

* * *

Many a man and many a woman setting out for a goal has ceased when the goal was just around the corner. Many a person striving for an objective has become discouraged and given up, when success, unknown to him, was almost within his grasp.

We can never tell how near we are to finding the way. It may open up with miraculous suddenness through what seems to be an impenetrable, insurmountable, obstruction.

Fate can commonly be depended upon to be kindly and faithful to him who is faithful to his cause if his cause be right.

* * *

A group of men were considering a serious public problem. At every point in the discussion there was encountered what seemed to be an insurmountable obstacle.

"The thing can be done and it is right that it should be done," one of the group said, "I am an old man; I am 70 years old. I have gone up against tougher propositions than this one and I have found that if it is right that a thing can be done there is always a way to do it."

* * *

There is an adage familiar to many of us which states that where there is a will there is a way. That maxim needs qualifying. There must be intelligence mixed with the will. If a man should be determined to butt down a high, thick, stone wall with his head he couldn't do it. He would have to use what was inside of his head to figure out another way.

QUEEN TO BE PRESENTED TO GOVERNORS

Downieville Out To Capture the Contest. Flashes a Popular Girl Candidate With But 7 Days To Go

The Frontier Day Queen Contest took a sudden turn yesterday, when Downieville entered one of the most popular girls in that region as a candidate, Miss Mary Romona Veck.

It was a tough break for the Truckee candidates, but all is fair in war and love.

Miss Mary Romona Veck is out to win this contest, and all of the entire Downieville district is out to help her.

As the paper goes to press the votes cast in the ballot box thus far are:

Ione Ghirard .....2550 votes
Ida Costa ..... 720 votes

There is still time for any other girl in the region to enter this contest and win a prize.

To enter the contest all a girl has to do is to call and secure a supply of votes to be sold for a penny apiece.

Never—in the history of the town has there ever been such an opportunity for the girls to win such high honor.

In addition to prizes, the girl who is elected Queen of the Frontier will be presented to the Governors and all her costume will be furnished to her free by the Committee in charge.

Every cent of the proceeds secured by the sale of the votes, will be spent in prizes and in getting the Queen ready for the Frontier Day celebration.

COMMUNITY PROGRAM

The Truckee Republican stands ready to extend every possible aid to the following progressive community program.

1. The establishment of a park alongside Southern Pacific Company's property on Main Street, with trees, shrubs, flower beds and a fountain.
2. Moving the Memorial at the State line to the new proposed park.
3. Building of a Community Building with suitable auditorium for public gatherings, and a gymnasium for the young people of the community.
4. The erection of suitable Welcome signs at the east and west entrance to Truckee.
5. Establishment of fish rearing ponds by the California Fish and Game Commission along the Truckee River.
6. Operation of water systems by the Truckee Public Utility District to enable cheaper rates.
7. Forming a new county consisting of the Eastern end of Placer and Nevada County, to be known as Tahoe County and with Truckee as the county seat.

Such a move is imperative for the development and expansion of the Truckee-Tahoe-Sierra Region.

TURNING BACK THE PAGES

Truckee will turn back the pages of history on July 23rd—when Governor Rolph and his distinguished visitors—the Governors of forty States—arrive in their special train for a stop of one hour.

Once again the Pony Express will run, and the old stage coach of by-gone days will be the center of interest. Indians, cowboys, scouts, miners and covered wagons will all make a background for the enactment of dramatizing the scenes of yesteryears.

And it is, indeed, most appropriate that Truckee should have this great honor and privilege. Truckee—the border frontier town; Truckee—the scene of the tragic Donner Party; Truckee—famous since the days of 1859 when thousands passed thru to seek fame and fortune in the land of silver in Nevada upon the discovery of the Comstock lead.

For years—Truckee—despite its picturesque location in the very heart of the glorious Sierra paradise, found no favor in the minds of the practical gold seeker. The Truckee river yielded not the precious particles of gold so eagerly sought, and as a result, the site was passed by with hardly a thought. Along the banks of the river, Indians contently dwelt, and they were left undisturbed in their solitude. Emigrants passed thru on their way to the west slope of the Sierra to seek gold untold.

Then in 1863 Joseph Gray came along and built a log cabin on what is now the corner of East Main and Bridge Street. And thus the little border frontier town of Truckee actually came into being. Since that day Truckee has played an important part in the affairs of the Sierra. The town has shared both tragedy and success. The town was destroyed by fire in 1868, again in 1871, again in 1873, in 1875 and still again in 1878. Today—Truckee is the gateway to the vast Truckee-Lake Tahoe-Sierra playground empire. Tens of thousands of summer and winter tourists pour into the region thru this old frontier border town each year.

And so we say once more—it is most appropriate that we should have the signal honor of playing host to Governor Rolph and his distinguished guests on National Governors' Day—July 23rd. The day will mean much more to us if we can share it with all our friends and neighbors in Nevada, Placer, Sierra, Plumas and Alpine counties. Let us sincerely hope that our fellow Californians in the Sierra region will all join us on that day of days.

FORD DIVIDES BUSINESS

Henry Ford has sold his railroads and coal mines and greatly diminished his production of tractors and airplanes. Lately he has been reported as about to sell his steel works at Detroit to one of the big steel corporations. Dearborn is no longer to be self-sufficient. He is said to be returning to his old policy of doing primarily an assembly business, concentrating on the job of producing cars without owning and controlling his sources of supply.

Thus, apparently, the Ford family corporation is no longer to be a "vertical trust," unified and self-sufficient in raw materials, manufacture, assembly, transportation and finance. If there was ever any monopolistic threat in the Ford scheme of operation, it is now gone. He will buy materials and parts in the open market, as he used to, scattering his supply base, fertilizing a thousand smaller industrial units. The facilities of the whole automotive industry will be at his service.

Ford has found, as many another business magnate has, how hard it is for one man or group to dominate every phase of a big industry. That is a valuable discovery, which should be beneficial to him as well as the rest of the industry. The automotive industry has long been cooperative to an unusual extent. It will be more so, with its lone wolf manufacturer grown less solitary.

"SPIRITUAL DOLLARS"

The dollar, properly considered, is far more than a business token or a unit of material value, says a minister. It is also a "symbol of spiritual and moral values." He urges a rediscovery of those values.

Look at the silver dollar, he says, for the forgotten legends it bears. "E Pluribus Unum, it says. "Out of Many, One." There is a symbol of unity which the various states and their people often forget in their selfish striving. The spiritual value of such unity is clearly suggested. Only unity endures. As Shelley wrote, "The One remains; the Many change and pass."

Then there is "In God We Trust," evidence of the faith in which our nation was rooted, and often smiled at today by a sophisticated generation as a silly and childish thing. It doesn't seem so silly, though, since we have gone down into the depths of this business and moral slough from which we are now beginning to emerge.

We are emerging because in our trouble we have found again unity and faith. Let us have new respect for the dollar that acknowledges these eternal verities—not for money as an end in itself, but as a token of human values to be realized in wise use.

TRAVEL MAKES BEAUTY RITUAL MORE DIFFICULT FOR WOMEN

NO MATTER how difficult our problems are, we can adapt ourselves or circumstances to meet them. How else could we live? Without this ability, there could be no happiness, no love for our fellow creatures, no beauty. No matter how hard we work, or how many enemies there are to our loveliness, we can adapt our beauty treatments to combat them successfully.

MISS HUNT

It is when the conditions are constantly shifting that the adjusting becomes difficult. A set of beauty treatments used successfully under the hot sun and heat of the dusty city, or on the kindly shore of the ocean, are entirely inadequate when you are traveling. There is little time for adjusting your treatments as you go, so you must select the methods and the cosmetics that seem to meet most conditions most satisfactorily before you begin your journey.

The coast to coast trip that your beauty columnist has just completed has been a valuable lesson and I hope that the suggestions that I have for you will be of value to those of you who expect to travel by car a lot during your vacation. Driving is fun — the ideal way to travel when weather conditions are just right, but devastating to your beauty when you must go from leafy driveways and cool breezes into a blazing prairie sun and drying hot winds.

Constant vigilance is necessary if you want to arrive at your journey's end looking as fresh and charming as when you left home. Let me repeat the advice given to those who vacation abroad—"travel light." Two of the little ensembles of woven cotton and wool or cotton mesh and a tight-fitting little beret to keep your hair out of your eyes and prevent its blowing and breaking in the wind will suffice for the journey. For the stops, pack simple things that do not crush easily and so will not need careful pressing when you want to wear them. You will find the shops full of these new cotton non-crushables and laces and meshes this summer. They take little space and launder easily.

My most faithful friend on my trip was my little bottle of suntan oil. I applied it quite liberally after splashing my face and arms with cold water when I first got up, and allowed a few minutes for my skin to absorb it. I then wiped away any that remained, applied a soft creamy paste rouge and just the faintest dusting of power. I found that not only did the oil prevent sunburn and windburn, but it made a very satisfactory powder foundation that I shall continue to use this summer.

No more peeping in my mirror until I stopped for lunch, when I applied a bit more of the oil, wiped away the surface dust and brightened my cheeks, if necessary, with a little powder rouge the same color as my paste rouge. I found that it was simpler to use when I carried only my handbag and did my freshening up in poorly equipped rest rooms.

OUR PRINCE OF RADIO

By Rose Bennington

His golden voice is on the air
To scatter sunshine everywhere.
As Fire Cheif Ed would say, "And so-o,"
He is our prince of radio.
It makes no difference how he looks
We mould his features out of books
We fashion him to suit each taste.
He's short; he's tall; he's broad of waist.
His private life we do not snoop.
What matters if he gulps his soup
Or eats his peas with spoon or knife;
Or chews tobacco; beats his wife
His own affairs we do not know
But he's our prince of radio.
We're happy when we turn the dial
And he steps in to chat awhile.
We do not see the suit he wears.
We do not see, and no one cares.
He greets us. Then, how time does fly!
We smile with him; or laugh; or cry.
Our heartstrings quiver in his bow
This charming prince of radio!

SPORTSMANSHIP

Good sportsmanship is a thing to be desired and admired by everyone. It develops character, brings out true worth. It teaches how to take as well as to give in a contest for supremacy. It is a quality not so rare but that all who indulge in sports may acquire it, and those who fail to do so should not enter contests.

These remarks are prompted by a feeling on the part of some that a proper spirit of sportsmanship was lacking at Sunday's ball game between the Red Ant boys and the North San Juan team. Whether or not the criticissm was justified, it is timely to remind all who enter contests that without a proper spirit of sportsmanship the contest will fall flat and be unsatisfactory to all concerned.

Contests are primarily for the purpose of developing true sportsmanship, and unless that quality is obtained from the game, then the effort will have been lost. To learn to lose gracefully without engendering any hard feelings and bitterness is just as important as to learn to win gracefully without any display of gloating. In other words, to be magnanimous and generous under all circumstances.

Dear Mr. Bavier:

I wish to express my deep appreciation of the very generous cooperation which California newspapers gave in the campaign in behalf of Proposition No. 1, the Riley-Stewart Tax Relief Plan. The tremendous majority accorded this measure by the voters is eloquent testimony of the confidence which the people have in the California press.

I wish to assure you also that I will do everything in my power to keep faith with you and the voters who supported this program. To the utmost of my ability I shall endeavor to assist the legislature in adopting a tax system free from discrimination and fair to every tax paying group.

Again assuring you of my gratitude, I am

Treating and Curing the Victims of Chronic Sore Throat

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

THERE are many reasons why the habit of having a sore throat is dangerous and why definite measures should be taken to correct and cure it. This can be done if not neglected too long. The body gets into habits and shows evidence of weaknesses just as the character does, and needs to have its administrative principles revamped. It is never well to cast suspicion too quickly and the wholesale removal of tonsils in chronic throat trouble is as ill-advised as the many hasty operations for suspected appendicitis. The tendency to develop a raw and irritable throat upon slight exposure or on frequent occasions may be treated first by systemic methods such as alkalinizing remedies or local applications to the distressed area. This is both temporary and temporizing and in the meantime, the general conditions should be carefully observed.

* * *

THE local hygiene is always wise for it serves, at least, to keep the membranes of the throat clean and the infection somewhat under control. There are frequently conditions that seem like anaemia. The patient finds himself generally depleted and is easily exhausted. He may begin to have an occasional heart flutter since the heart action always responds to an acute infection. Many of the infections and contagious diseases find their starting point in the throat. Among these are measles, diphtheria and scarlet fever. Quinsy and tonsilitis are, of course, seated there and have many sequellae. In consequence, a delicate and easily inflamed throat is a standing invitation to such infection.

* * *

IN ANY case of any form of rheumatic fever, the tonsils should come under the most rigid observation. Sometimes their location will chance to be sufficiently deep in the walls of the throat that they are not conspicuous in any way and their guilt will escape suspicion.

* * *

A HEALTHY young girl in my own family awakened one morning with pain in the jaws and neck. A day later, the elbows were affected and a specialist was called. In less than a week, she was in the hospital and by the time an operation could be arranged, her knees and ankles were disabled. The tonsils looked very innocent but were found to be deeply imbedded and full of pus. This girl had never had tonsilitis but the operation proved the source of the acute articular rheumatism. Do not remove the tonsils just because nothing else can be found to do but if they are proven defective, their surgical treatment is the safest way out. When the recurrent throat soreness is confined to the tonsils, relief can be obtained by applications of iodine solution or nitrate of silver. A better way is to cauterize the surface with an electric current.

DR. HORN OPENS DENTAL OFFICE IN TAHOE CITY

Dr. Cedric Horn opened his office in Tahoe City at the Squirrel Inn last Tuesday. He is looking forward to a very pleasant summer, and at the same time wishes to serve the public with the very best in dentistry possible. The need of a dentist in Tahoe is apparent.

Born in Santa Rosa, Calif., Dr. Horn has lived in the middle west and Southern California. He completed the five year course in dentistry at the College of Physicians and Surgeons School of Dentistry of San Francisco. Beginning while in high school he has spent the past nine summer working at Tahoe, so that he is by no means a "stranger about town."

Although Dr. Horn intends to practice general dentistry, he feels that there is a great field in children's dentistry. According to the most recent research almost all of the dental disorders are due to the lack of proper hygiene during childhood, which, if corrected, may enable the child to have throughout life a healthy, clean dentition, giving him a good start toward general health and happiness.

Once in a Lifetime

By Griffith Bonner

"Once in a Lifetime." This would be an auspicious heading for the welcoming of the Governors from the different states of the Union in Truckee and the Sierra Region on July 23.

Years from now the little children who are now playing in the city streets of Truckee will have grown to young womanhood and young manhood but they will then gather around the home fires and tell another generation of How the Governors Came to Truckee. Those of us who are now in middle age will also cherish this historic occasion as the silver threads wend their way into our hair.

Truckee is to be most heartily congratulated in putting on such a fine program for the governors. The reception to be given in honor of the distinguished guests is a matter of civic pride that all residents should enjoy taking part in both as a matter of respect to the Governors and also as another mile stone in the rich history of the Truckee region famous for the deeds of the Donner party and other historic achievements. Truckee is to be congratulated on its fine plans and as the days of the celebration approach all should co-operate to make this history making event an epoch in the lifetime of the Truckee region.

Editor's Note: Mr. Bonner is a newspaper man of 20 years' experience on large Eastern papers. He and Mrs. Bonner are both summering in the Truckee district and both of them have caught the spirit of the program in honor of the visiting Governors. Having the Bonners as summer guests in the Truckee district is an asset to our community. Mr. Bonner is also assisting in publicity work for the welcome of the Governors.

POISON EMPLOYED TO FIGHT RODENTS

MISSOULA, Mont., July 13—(UP)—Governor Frank H. Cooney ordered 50,000 pounds of a deadly poison—cyanogas—in a campaign to exterminate gophers in the Bitter Root valley.

The gophers yearly cause great crop damage, and also are carriers of wood ticks, small insects whose bite usually results in an infection and dreaded Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

Within a few days the poison had been exhausted—and there still were thousands of live gophers left.

"Get another 50,000 pounds of the poison," ordered the governor. "I didn't know there were so many of the rodents—but we'll get them yet."

TAXES ALL IMPORTANT QUESTION

By THOMAS B. MALARKEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Special to The Truckee Republican

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 13—(UP)—The fortunes of the polls and legislation adding power to his board, have elevated Fred Stewart member of the board of equalization from a position of only moderate importance to one of prominence in state government.

Stewart and Riley, state controller, were authors of the original Riley-Stewart tax revision plan which, in an amended form, was approved by voters at the June 27 special election.

This in itself has immeasurably added to Stewart's prestige; so much so that he's being mentioned at a likely candidate for lieutenant governor at the August, 1934 primaries.

But in addition to that, the board of equalization, of which he is perhaps the most active member, has emerged from relative obscurity to be one of the most important units of state government.

Approval of the tax revision plan dropped into the board's lap the tremendous responsibility of evaluating for taxation purposes between $1,300,000,000 and $1,800,000,000 in utility properties. The power is immense, for the board's decision is final. On its valuation will depend many millions in taxes.

Again, the tax revision limits county and city governments from increasing their government costs over five per cent annually. Local governmental bodies will be able to go to the board for permission to exceed this amount, if the legislature passes necessary acts empowering the board with this authority.

The beer tax was passed. Administering and collection of this money was placed in the board's hands and resulted in increased scope and responsibility.

Finally, a sales tax and, possibly, also a personal income tax will be passed at the July session of the legislature. Collection and administering of these two taxes would also be in the hands of the board.

Thus, in the final shakedown, the election and legislation have pushed Stewart from the rear ranks of state officialdom into the front ranks. With him, also, are other members of the powerful board, John C. Corbett, San Francisco; H. G. Cattell, Pasadena and R. E. Collins, Redding.

JURIST SEES DELAY IN LAND PAYMENTS

SALEM, Ore., July 13—(UP)—Possibility that Oregon and California land grant funds from the federal government may be delayed this year is seen by V. P. Moses, county judge of Benton, who was one of the leaders in obtaining the payments to Oregon counties.

Moses said that only seven of the 18 counties in Oregon entitled to the funds in lieu of tax payments on tracts of land taken over by the government have as yet filed claims with the government.

COP THINKS OWNER OF STORE IS YEGG

PORTLAND, Ore., July 13—(UP)—Gust Schmidt worked late in his market. He locked the door, then went to the safe to see if it was locked. A policeman saw him at the safe and knocked with a revolver on a window pane. Schmidt opened the door.

"Stand back, I got you covered," said the officer.

"Good for you, baby—you're right on the job," Schmidt replied. It took him a half hour to prove he was not a yegg.

Home Owners Loan Act Explained By U. S. Congressman Englebright

The following communication has been received from the Hon. Harry L. Englebright, United States Congressman from this district.

Dear Friend:

In order that you may be familiar with the provisions of the Home Owners Loan Act enacted into law at this session of Congress, the following is a brief synopsis of the law.

SYNOPSIS

1. The Home Owners Loan Corporation is a corporation created by Congress to be administered by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board as Directors, for the purpose of saving the owners of homes where they are unable to secure money to pay mortgages otherwise and where the mortagagee is threatening foreclosure.

2. It has $200,000,000 of capital stock, subscribed for and to be paid by the United States Treasury and it has the authority to issue two billion dollars in bonds running 18 years at 4 per cent interest, the interest being guaranteed by the United States Government.

3. Only mortgages that were on record June 13, 1933, the date of the approval of this Act, can be taken up under the law.

4. For direct relief to home owners, the Act provides that for a period of three years following the enactment of the Act the Corporation may deal directly with owners occupying their homes, or holding the same as their homestead although temporarily residing elsewhere; provided the home is built for not more than four families and has a value of not more than $20,000.

5. The Corporation is authorized to exchange its bonds for first mortgages on homes and to pay any accrued taxes, assessments, necessary maintenance and repairs, and incidental costs in cash; provided the mortgagees will consent to take the Corporation's bonds for the mortgage.

6. The exchange of bonds for mortgages may not be made in an amount higher than 80 per cent of the value of the property, or in a total amount not to exceed $14,000, whichever is the smaller.

7. On exchange of bonds for mortgages, the Corporation is authorized to take from the home owner a new mortgage for a period not exceeding 15 years, with payments either monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, or annually, according to the agreement then entered into with interest at 5 per cent. The home owner will then have a long-term loan with small payments.

8. If the bonds accepted by the mortgagee are less in value than the face value of the mortgage, the difference will be credited to the home owner.

9. Provides moratorium for three years, from passage of Act, on installments of principal or mortgage made to Home Owners Loan Corporation; if interest, taxes and other conditions of mortgage are met.

10. Extensions of time to home owners for the payment of any installment or principal or interest owned by him to the Corporation are provided if the circumstances justify, but the total extensions during 15 year period must not exceed the aforesaid three years.

11. The Corporation is authorized to make loans in cash on property not otherwise encumbered up to 50 per cent of its value for the payment of taxes and assessments on the real estate, and necessary maintenance and repairs.

12. Where the mortgagee is unwilling to exchange his mortgage for a bond, the Corporation is authorized to loan home owner direct 40 per cent of the value of his property to take up his mortgage in cash at an interest rate not exceeding 6 per cent; provided he is not able to obtain a loan from ordinary lending agencies.

13. The Corporation is authorized to provide for the exchange of bonds and to advance cash for mortgages for the redemption and recapture of foreclosed homes; provided such loss occurred within two years prior to such exchange. This aid is conditioned on the same terms as given in paragraphs (5) and (6) above.

14. The Home Loan Bank Board shall make rules governing the methods of appraisal to be followed.

15. The Act does not provide cash to make new or original loans of any kind except for taxes, assessments, repairs, and maintenance, and where there is no prior lien.

16. Makes punishable by fine of not more than $10,000 for any violation of provision directed against persons attempting impositions or home owners in assistance rendered them in making loan applications or performing other services. Denies right to compensation to such persons except for purposes outlined in Act.

The Act then follows with provisions for the federal chartering of federal savings and loan associations, designed to promote community thrift and home financing means.

In explanation of how applications under the Act can be made, the Chairman of the Home Loan Bank Board has stated that there will be a general manager for the home owners' local corporation established in each State, with sufficient employees to handle the business and whose location will be well known. Any one wishing to avail himself of the provisions of the Act should make application in person or by mail to the said manager, who will furnish blanks to be filled out. If, from the application it appears that the loan is one that the corporation can make under the law, it will be referred to an appraiser or agent in the county where the applicant lives, who will immediately appraise the property and have the local attorney determine as to the soundness of the title. On this report, if favorable the loan will be closed, papers executed, and the bonds or cash, as the case may be, paid to take over the mortgage which is in existence.

Trusting that the foregoing information may be of interest to you, and with best wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,
HARRY L. ENGLEBRIGHT

PREDICTS INCREASE IN FOREIGN TRADE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 13—(UP)—A revival of trade between southern California and Australia was predicted by J. David Larson, trade counselor of the Chamber of Commerce, stationed at Honolulu on his return here recently from a trip to Australia.

"Despite almost prohibitive tariff barriers, considerable trade interest was developed in southern California products," he said.

"In my opinion, with America off the gold standard, our trade with Australia will increase. Their money comes nearer a parity with ours which increases their buying power."

Nevada Co. Must Appoint Emergency Relief Committee

Special to The Truckee Republican

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 13—(UP)—A Nevada county emergency relief committee must be appointed by the board of supervisors before this county can be in position to apply for its share of state unemployment relief funds made available by the electorate's approval of the $20,000,000 bond issue at the June 27 special election.

This decision was reached by the State Emergency Relief commission, shortly after the $20,000,000 unemployment relief bond issue was approved.

The county committee will consist of not less than three and not more than nine members. It must be non-partisan, non-sectarian, non-salaried, and composed of members who are familiar with unemployment conditions in their own locality.

The committee's duties involve considerable responsibility. They include supervision of "the administration of all public relief funds made available by the county, state and federal governments for unemployment relief, in order to insure adequate standards of direct relief and work relief."

Superceding the various county committees, in authority, will be R. C. Branion, state emergency relief administrator.

Branion anticipates the $20,000,000, supplemented by federal, city county and private grants will put "California "over the top" in its unemployment relief drive for the next two years.

The administrator explained the Federal Emergency Relief act of 1933 has made available $500,000,000 for states. This money will be released on a "self-help" basis. Out of every relief dollar expended in California, the state and its lesser sub-divisions must raise 66 2-3 cents, the federal government will raise the remaining 33 1-3 cents. Thus approval of the $20,000,000 bond issue assured the state approximately $6,662,000 in federal monies during the next two years.

The state will loan the $20,000,000 to various counties on liberal terms. A ten-year repayment plan is provided. If any county is remiss in its repayment installment, the state may step in and appropriate that county's gas tax allocation until the obligation is fulfilled.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 13—(UP)—When Tim Murphy and M. E. Christensen, residing near a railroad line, repeatedly complained to Chief of Police W. L. Payne that trains were passing their homes at great speed, shaking surrounding buildings, they were named special officers with authority to enforce speed laws.

SEATTLE, July 13—(UP)—"By their canes shall ye know them," paraphrased the City Council when it passed an ordinance forbidding other than blind persons from carrying white canes on the public streets. The law also states that motorists are required to give such persons the right-of-way at street crossings.

Christian Science

"Life" will be subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, July 16, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The Golden Text will be: "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent" (John 17: 3). Other Bible citations will include: "And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son" (I John 5: 11).

The Lesson-Sermon also will include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "He who has the true idea of good loses all sense of evil, and by reason of this is being ushered into the undying realities of Spirit. Such a one abideth in Life,—life obtained not of the body incapable of supporting life, but of Truth, unfolding its own immortal idea. Jesus gave the true idea of being, which results in infinite blessings to mortals." (p. 325).

He who knows not and knows not that he knows not is a fool; shun him.

He who knows and knows that he knows is wise; follow him.

DEATH RECALLS STRANGE INDIAN PUNISHMENT

WHITE SALMON, Wash., July 13—(UP)—Strange punishment for murder in the old Klickatat Indian tribe was recalled here when Chief Stahi died.

Stahi was a hot-tempered young buck. His first wife often displeased him and one morning he threw his tomahawk at her. The blow killed her.

The Klickatats tried and sentenced him. One leg was bent back at the knee and bound against his thigh. A circle several hundred feet in circumference was laid out on the ground and Stahi ordered to jump around the circle on one leg.

Behind him was an Indian brave with a tomahawk, threatening him whenever he attempted to rest.

As Stahi told it: "Me hop 'em round and round—get tired—stop, look up see big Injun, tomahawk over head—me hop 'em damn quick. Get tired many times—big brave always close—me hop 'em—bime by all same dead."

Stahi was not tempted to commit any violent acts after that. He was buried near here with full Indian funeral honors. He was said to have been about 100 years old.
